

AP English Language and Composition Final Assignment

Personal Narrative

Describe what life has been like for you under lockdown. Be candid. Be funny. Be creative. Did you learn something about yourself? About others? Was it an easy transition or did you struggle? Do you prefer life this way or are you ready to return to normalcy? What do you predict for the future?

Goals of the Assignment

- To convey your experiences in a creative way
- To draft a response that (perhaps) you can use for your college application

Final Product

Max 500 Words

Double-spaced

12-point Font, TNR

DUE DATE: Sunday, June 14th

Guiding Questions

Use these questions as points of departure for your response. You don't have to address these questions at all; they are here to help you.

1. How has life changed for you? What are some habits that you have developed? Do you wish to keep these habits?
2. What types of news did you/do you tune in to? Who do you trust to give you accurate news? Are there any conspiracy theories that you follow?
3. Did you do anything creative or inspiring during this time? Did you have a chance to indulge in activities that under normal circumstances you would not have time for?
4. What was school life like? Do you prefer online learning in some ways to traditional education?
5. What are your fears moving forward? What are your hopes moving forward?

Tips...

- You can narrate your story, describe a circumstance, or compare and contrast situations. You can also develop your own technique for how to write your response.
- Although this is not a formal essay, ideas in your response should be organized, coherent, and intelligible.
- Consider the emotional impact you would like this to have on the reader.
